Referencing

is recording information about where you find your information. A list of sources is called a bibliography. A list of sources that you have cited or referred to is a reference list. Both of these are included at the end of

Example:

Growing up in the digital age 2007, DVD recording, ABC, Sydney.

When referencing a DVD/film/TV/radio, include;

1. Title (in italics)
2. Year (comma)
3. Format [ie. DVD recording] (comma)
4. Publisher (comma)
5. Place of publication (full stop)
6. Special credits if applicable
